VITTORIO BENEFITS

 Early season production

 Attractive white colour

 Excellent flavour through very low fibre levels

 Exceptionally high yields

Vittorio is a new white asparagus hybrid that was bred in the north of Italy. The variety is characterised by a range of attractive features; these include very high yields, early season production and an excellent flavour profile. One of the significant advantages of this cultivar is that it offers a combination of traits that are attractive not only to commercial growers but also to the consumer.

For asparagus production to be profitable, it is important that growers can plant varieties that have high levels of production at a time of the season when prices are best, but also for consumers to be so impressed with the taste of the variety that they come back to the retail outlets to purchase more. Vittorio asparagus delivers on all of these counts.

VITTORIO REVIEW

“Vittorio is an excellent product, very white colour, tightly closed tip, good, homogeneous size, very little fibrousness, excellent to eat and also very productive, good yield in the field. Excellent processing in post-harvest, no rust, very white spears with no symptoms of disease, there is no need to do further processing, just wash it.”
